

Business Analytics Intern

(m/f)

HAMBURG PERFORMANCE MARKETING & ANALYTICS INTERN

StyleLounge (www.stylelounge.de) is a leading fashion price comparison platform in Europe with over 3m monthly visits. Our mission is to match online shoppers with their favorite outfits among millions of products available in over 400 online shops. StyleLounge was launched in 2015 by Truventuro (Finanzcheck, Dreamlines, Home2Go...) and now operates in 6 European countries. The company has experienced a steep growth, and is now a top player in Europe.

We use a data-driven approach and artificial intelligence to provide the best recommendations that fit every shopper's needs. For our next growth phase, we aim at developing new features and products to provide the best possible user experience. Innovation, data and expansion are our motto. Our office is based in the center of Hamburg and consists of 30 highly skilled, motivated and fun people from all around the world.

To prepare for our next growth stage, we are currently looking for an Intern Business Analytics (m/f) to join our Performance Marketing & Analytics team. As part of this team you will be closely working with the management team of StyleLounge and support in the optimization of the business processes.

Your Responsibilities

- You analyze and improve the business processes across different departments
- You optimize the daily automated reporting to ensure the right business decisions
- You improve the existing data warehouse and reporting layer
- You act as liaison between the departments to ensure a complete flow of information
- You are responsible for documentation and knowledge sharing

Your Profile

- Bachelor's or Master's student in the area of Industrial Engineering, Business Informatics or similar
- Highly ambitions, pronounced analytical thinking and a proactive working attitude
- Passionate and highly motivated to face complex and challenging tasks and problems
- Business fluency in German and English
- Proficiency in Microsoft Excel
- Experience with programming languages a plus
- Experience in working with SQL a plus

What we offer

- A steep learning curve by closely cooperating with the management team of the portfolio company
- A job in which you contribute to the success and growth of the company from day one
- An environment of a data-driven e-commerce start-up
- A high-performing and international team and an enjoyable working atmosphere
- A modern working space in the city of Hamburg

Interested in the challenge? We are looking forward to receiving your CV and a short intro explaining why you think you are a fit (5 lines max, make them count!) at jobs@stylelounge.de.

Please include your earliest possible entry date and the preferred duration of your internship.