

Business Analyst Intern (m/f)

HAMBURG OPERATIONS INTERN

StyleLounge (www.stylelounge.de) is a leading fashion price comparison platform in Europe with over 3m monthly visits. Our mission is to match online shoppers with their favorite outfits among millions of products available in over 400 online shops. StyleLounge was launched in 2015 by Truventuro (Finanzcheck, Dreamlines, Home2Go...) and now operates in 6 European countries. The company has experienced a steep growth, and is now a top player in Europe.

We use a data-driven approach and artificial intelligence to provide the best recommendations that fit every shopper's needs. For our next growth phase, we aim at developing new features and products to provide the best possible user experience. Innovation, data and expansion are our motto. Our office is based in the center of Hamburg and consists of 30 highly skilled, motivated and fun people from all around the world.

To prepare for our next growth stage, we are currently looking for an Business Analyst Intern (m/f) - 6 months minimum. You will actively take part in conceiving and assessing the new products and markets that will support our growth in the upcoming months and years.

Your responsibilities

- Analyze our key performance indicators and suggest improvements actionable across all departments
- Provide tools and reporting that make data understandable by all internal stakeholders
- Contribute to building our growth strategy, notably regarding new markets/products/clients
- Develop a comprehensive understanding of the fashion ecommerce market and suggest actions to better address the needs of the key stakeholders
- Become a valuable asset for top management in the decision-making process

Your profile

- You have a passion for data and ecommerce
- You are a Masters student in Business Administration, Eco Industrial Engineering or other relevant field
- You love and master Excel (must have)
- You have advanced or basic knowledge of SQL querying tools (a plus)
- You are fluent in English (German is not required)
- You are autonomous and have a “get it done” attitude
- You are dedicated during working hours and fun after work

We offer

- Learn a lot about digital startups, analytical tools, strategic management...
- Interact with all departments (BI, Marketing, Sales, Operations, Finance) to actually get the full picture
- Work with a team of highly skilled and motivated people from all around the world
- Be directly involved in strategic decisions with top-management
- Very steep learning and growth curves
- A great workplace in the center of Hamburg where we love to work and have fun

Interested in the challenge? We are looking forward to receiving your CV and a short intro explaining why you think you are a fit (5 lines max, make them count!) at jobs@stylelounge.de.

Please include your earliest possible entry date and the preferred duration of your internship.